Winter Elected Councilman By Majority Of 219 Over Smoyer In First Ward

SMOYER DEFEATED IN FIRST WARD BY MAJORITY OF 219

Clarence W. Winter Elected Councilman Over Democratic Opponent

REPUBLICANS WIN HERE

Carry Every Councilman Except One Ward—The Fourth

Election of Bristol Borough went to the polls yesterday and voted overwhelmingly for Republican candidates for the various offices.

Republicans carried Bristol Borough with an approximate majority of 1,500 and Republican candidates for Borough Council were elected in every ward with but one exception, the Fourth, which is a Democratic stronghold.

In the First Ward Clarence W. Winter, Republican, won a decisive victory over John F. Smoyer, his Democratic opponent for Borough Council, whom he defeated by a majority of 219.

Winter and Smoyer fought for the Republican nomination at the September Primary and the former on that occasion won the Republican nomination by five votes. Smoyer then announced his candidacy on the Democratic ticket which he secured due to the fact that two Democrats had written his name on the Primary ballot.

The vote for Winter and Smoyer was as follows:

First precinct, Winter, 246; Smoyer, 166; second precinct, Winter, 274; Smoyer, 135. Total vote, Winter, 520; Smoyer, 301.

In the Second Ward Joseph R. Grundy polled a total vote of 329 while 45 votes were polled for Franklin Gilkeson.

Republican election boards were chosen in most of the wards and in the second precinct of the Fourth Ward a Republican election board was chosen for the first time since that district has been in existence.

Republican members of the school board, Fabian, Gillis and Young, were all re-elected by substantial majorities.

LECTURER EXPLAINS HOW DEMOCRACY WORKS

Dr. William D. Henderson, of Michigan University, Gives Interesting Talk

MISS MAGUIRE SPEAKS

(Special to Courier.) DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 9.—The election day session of the seventy-third annual session of the Bucks County Teachers' Institute was featured by a number of excellent lectures and addresses yesterday but the afternoon address of Dr. William D. Henderson, director of the extension department of the University of Michigan, was quite apropos for election day.

The Michigan educator gave another of his series of talks on democracy, confining his remarks to "How Democracy Works."

He spoke of the mechanism of democracy as a form of government, outlining three divisions—public opinion, party system and majority rule.

"If the public opinion of any state, community or nation is low, democracy is low," declared Dr. Henderson. "Public opinion," continued Dr. Henderson, "does not necessarily mean agreement on all points. Public opinion does not form overnight; it is not sentiment. Public opinion depends upon the attention given to the thing at issue and is followed by the public discussion of the question at issue."

The speaker said that it is possible to sit down in a Pullman smoker these days and hear all the problems of the universe discussed.

"That is where we have it on the women," Dr. Henderson said. "Although I hear there will soon be Pullman smokers for women, too."

"There is no better way of establishing public opinion than through the party system. Just at the present time public opinion is dead concerning certain great issues. The great parties now are looking for some ways and means to dodge big issues it seems to me. If you want to see public opinion aroused, bring forth some big issue, such as the wet and dry question and you will see some fireworks."

Dr. Henderson said that he had to smile at times over the great effort being made to "get out the vote," which he described as "the great outdoor sport of the American people."

"What is there to get out the vote?" Senator Borah recently came out and announced that it is not a question of the wet and the dry issue but a question of law or no laws, and I am inclined to agree with him.

"Laws galore, we have. Why, if all the laws in the country were enacted—"

TWO BRISTOL MEN ELECTED

JOHN S. ROBERTS
County Surveyor

MULFORD L. CALLANAN
Clerk of Quarter Sessions

WINTER THANKS VOTERS FOR SUPPORT GIVEN HIM

I take this opportunity to publicly express my thanks to the overwhelming majority of citizens of the First Ward who elected me to Borough Council yesterday.

With all the gratification and appreciation that I feel, however, I realize that this was a victory not merely of an individual. It was a victory for the principle of the Direct Primary; it was a victory for party loyalty to a party nominee; it was a victory for the Anderson Administration and all its constructive policies, to which I have emphatically pledged my support and co-operation in Borough Council.

The election is over; the issues have been settled by the people themselves; and in common with the great majority of our citizenship, I look forward with hope and confidence to a long period of political peace and municipal advancement and progress.

That, I take it, was the edict of the people, as expressed in the September Primary and ratified in yesterday's Election.

REAL PLUCK MISNAMED

The rise of a youth, 24 years of age, to the presidency of a mammoth cough-drop concern in Reading, recently, was hailed by many as one of the best examples of initiative brought to light within the past few months.

The raising of this particular young man in the business world was not a change wrought overnight. Although still but a lad with a few years of business preparation in back of him, he has nevertheless been noted for his ability to keep "everlastingly at it."

We are told by his friends and former instructors in school that he attracted attention during his years in the class-room by ranking high in his studies. With the determination of his days in the class-room his period of knowledge absorption did not cease, but steadily and faithfully he pursued his course—which ultimately would lead to business achievement.

The period of achievement arrived and he was not only prepared but anxious to take advantage of the opportunity. His few years in business pursuits had taught him much, principally through his own efforts. He watched his chance and recognized the moment when it came.

Some will call it luck—but they are unjustified in the use of the word, and entirely unfair to the young man in question. By changing the word to pluck the lad, Daniel W. Dietrich, would receive what he rightfully deserves. It was undoubtedly by sheer, hard work that he acquired his niche in the world of industry.

Those who quietly sit and wonder at the so called "luck" of certain individuals would profit better if they would acquire a little pluck, which would without doubt start them on the road to success.

RIVALRY BETWEEN CITIES

Claims by Baltimore to having the cleanest streets of any city in the United States are disputed by Tulsa, Oklahoma, which does not stop there but goes so far as to boast of being the cleanest city in all respects.

It is a healthy sign when communities fall out over which is superior to the other in some department of community life. It is the first manifestation of civic self-consciousness, without which no community can expect to improve itself.

There should be more competition between cities and towns. Such competition always proves mutually beneficial. It supplies the "common cause" which mobilizes the entire community back of every community project. That is because it appeals to the patriotism, pride and sportsmanship of the whole citizenry.

The ease with which communities can be embroiled in competitive progressiveness suggests that much good might come from a contest among cities and towns for selection on a given date of communities excelling in various civic virtues. The largest population, best streets, best park system, cleanest city, least smoke, least traffic congestion, fewest traffic accidents and most efficient municipal government are but a few of the goals to be worked for in such a contest.

A crank is a man in whose head an idea has been condemned to solitary confinement.

Friends are people who forgive everything except great success.

A REPORT ON CRIME

The sub-committee on statistics of the New York State Crime Commission released an interesting report on crime in this State on August 25, 1927. We observe three things of special importance in this report—the youth of the offenders, the fact that most of the felonies are committed by professional criminals, and the small percentage of convictions after arrest. The report covered a study of 25,000 felony cases, and the average age of criminals was less than 25 years, ranging at 23 years for robberies to 30 years for forgeries. For New York City the report states: "If we start with 100 per cent of arrests, 98 per cent are left after police custody has been terminated, 41 per cent after the preliminary hearing, 28 per cent after the grand jury has acted, 20 per cent after trial, and 15 per cent are actually imprisoned or fined." This last feature has an important bearing on the crime situation. The courts are so bound in legal technicalities, and so juggled by dishonest and unworthy lawyers that criminals have become bold in the knowledge that they stand eighty-five chances out of a hundred of getting away without punishment.—Wesleyan Methodist.—(Adv.)

SENDING PICTURES BY TELEPHONE

BELL Telephone scientists invented a machine for sending pictures over a telephone wire.

Telephone research—to improve your telephone service—gave it birth.

From this same effort have come Television, Vitaphone, Radio Telephone, Public Address Systems, Radio networks, the improved phonograph, and medical aids such as the Audiphone, Audiometer, and Electric Stethoscope.

All these things grew out of studies and experiments to make your telephone service better.

The fact that you can make out-of-town calls to nearby points just like local calls is, to you, a more tangible result.

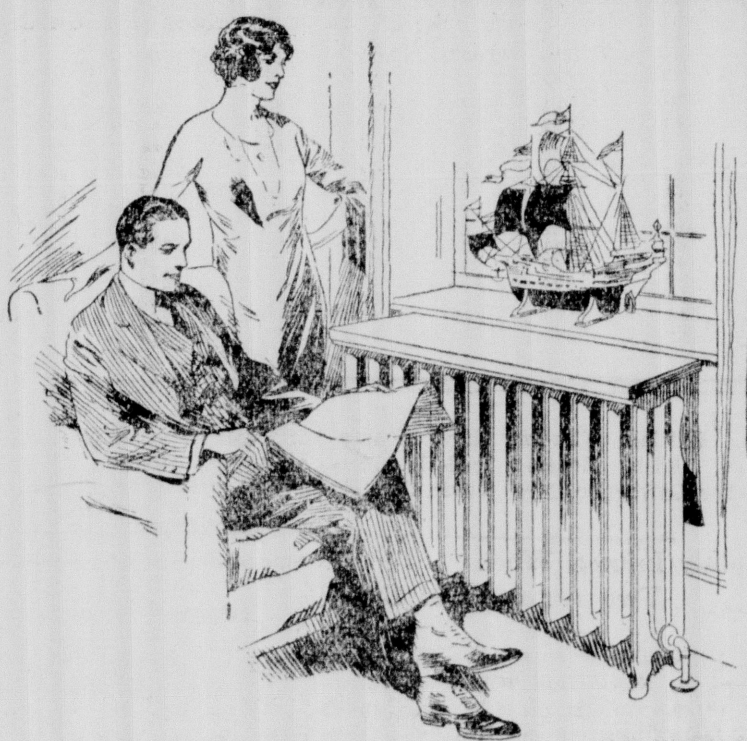

A newly developed high speed service to more distant points is another.

The whole American nation, and Canada and Cuba—and now parts of Europe and Mexico—have been brought into your home or office.

Because of ceaseless study and experiment, your telephone service—your every-day use of the telephone—is today more dependable, more accurate, more highly personalized, and is greatly increased in scope.
